

OPINION: BLACK PEOPLE, I'M CALLING YOUR BLUFF

Posted on June 21, 2021 by Jared Taylor | American Renaissance

Marriage is supposed to be forever. That is the symbolism of the wedding ring, a piece of precious metal with no end. But the reality is that some marriages just won't work. There can be what marriage law calls irreconcilable differences – differences so great that separation is the only solution.

The same thing happens with groups of people. Nations. They can have irreconcilable differences, so they break up.