Citizens can still view Meeting Several Different Ways From Home

Prescott City Council and Boards, Commissions & Committees (BCCs) began conducting “hybrid” meetings during the height of the COVID-19 pandemic due to city hall closures. As a courtesy, these hybrid options have continued over the past year, however, as all city operations and services have returned to normal, beginning in January 2023 Council and all BCCs will no longer offer hybrid meeting options.

City Council Meetings will continue to air live on the City website, Facebook, on Public Access Channel 64 and available on-demand. Planning & Zoning Commission and Council Subcommittee on Water Issues will also continue to air live, and other BCCs will return to their in-person participation model.

Citizens with questions about how to view City meetings can contact the City Clerk’s Office at 928-777-1437.
