CJ Foods Manufacturing Beaumont Corporation, a Beaumont, Calif., establishment, is recalling approximately 61,839 pounds of steamed chicken soup dumpling products that may be contaminated with foreign materials, specifically hard plastic from a permanent marker pen, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food Safety and Inspection Service (FSIS) announced Monday.

The steamed chicken soup dumplings were produced on Dec. 7, 2023.

6-oz. boxes with plastic trays containing six pieces of "TRADER JOE'S Steamed Chicken Soup Dumplings" with lot codes "03.07.25.C1-1" and "03.07.25.C1-2" printed on the side of the box. The products subject to recall bear establishment number "P-46009" inside the USDA mark of inspection. These items were shipped to Trader Joe's retail locations nationwide.

The problem was discovered after the firm received complaints from consumers reporting they found hard plastic in Trader Joe's steamed chicken soup dumplings. There have been no confirmed reports of adverse reactions or injury due to consumption of these products. Anyone concerned about an injury should contact a healthcare provider.

FSIS is concerned that some product may be in consumers' freezers. Consumers who have purchased these products are urged not to consume them. These products should be thrown away or returned to the place of purchase.

Consumers with questions about the recall can contact the CJ Foods Manufacturing Beaumont Corporation's Consumer Experience Department at 800-544-6855.
